PRESENTATION OPTIONS

1. Face-to-face short presentation (25 min. including Q & A, research or practice-based)

Standard conference presentation. These presentations are designed for presenting current research or practice. Topics may include reflective teaching, self-care strategies, linguistics, language learning, or methodology, as well as issues related to gender, diversity, and accessibility in college and university settings. Accepted presenters will present at Toyama University on one of the days of the conference. Please note that WiFi internet connection is not available in presentation rooms, so any internet-based activities will require cellular data.

2. Face-to-face professional development workshop (45 min. including Q & A)

These presentations are designed to be interactive, hone professional skills, and provide resources for teaching, presenting, writing, planning and conducting research, or other professional activities. We welcome topics related to reflective and inclusive teaching practices, self-care strategies, mentoring others, improving communication, getting involved in professional organizations, or anything else that would help college and university educators develop professionally. Accepted presenters will present at Toyama University on one of the days of the conference.

3. Interactive poster session (45 min. including Q and A)

Present a research poster to a live audience at the event. Posters must be paper-based. Presenters must be on hand to present and discuss their research throughout the session.

4. Group Forum (90 min.)

For group presentations such as round tables, forums, or panel discussions. Few slots are available for this format, so please indicate in your proposal whether you would be willing to adapt to a 45-minute session.
